United Airlines has apologized for mistakenly shipping an American family's pet dog thousands

Three years ago, a couple was enjoying a meal at a beach restaurant.
The restaurant was built on a wooden structure above the sea water.
During the meal, the man's wedding ring slipped off his finger.
It fell through the wooden floorboards apparently lost forever.
Recently, the restaurant manager Ryan Kravoy decided to replace the wooden deck, and he found an old gold coin, some $100 bills, and a silver wedding ring while replacing the deck.
The restaurant's waitress Sasha Formeca posted a picture of the ring on Facebook.
The posts were shared about 5,000 times.
Three days later, the happy wife called to claim the ring. She even texted pictures of her and her husband eating there in 2017 as proof. The restaurant mailed the ring back to the happy couple. Meanwhile, Krewoy discovered that the gold coin was very rare. It was from

I can't believe that duck hunting is still legal in so many parts of the world.
The scientific evidence from countries like Australia, Canada and the USA clearly indicates a decline in the bird's numbers.
But can anyone be sure if the decline is really caused by the Humting or by climate change?
It's caused by both, in fact.
We see more droughts in countries like Australia.
Ducks are birds that feed and breed in areas where there is a lot of water.
But their habitats have been shrinking in recent decades because of the droughts.
And I guess, with fewer places to inhabit, they concentrate in great numbers in few areas.
Which surely makes them easier targets for the hunters.
It does. My grandfather was a duck hunter. He told me hunting ducks and geese began in the 19th century.
They were an easily found and politically available food source in farming areas, especially for poor immigrants.
What did they use for hunting during that period?
They used new types of guns and birds could easily be shot down in flight, and in such great numbers that commercial hunting of ducks and geese became an industry.
Yet there's no commercial farming of these birds nowadays.
Their meat is hardly eaten in western countries.
No, duck hunting seemingly exists as the continuation of a tradition.
Wild ducks have never been popular with farmers like my grandfather anyway,
Because they sometimes destroy crops.
In fact, farmers use to poison them in large numbers.
That somehow doesn't surprise me.
Nobody places much value on the lives of these poor birds or on their meat.
Questions A-211 are based on the conversation you have just heard.
Question 8.
What does the woman find unbelievable?
Question 9. What does the woman say has caused the shrinking of ducks' habitats in Australia?
Question 10. Why is there no commercial farming of ducks and geese in western countries?
Question 11. What does the woman say about farmers in her grandfather's time.
Conversation 2
Ok, Miss Bright, I finished calculating.
I estimate you have between 210 and 240 square meters of walls and ceiling.
So, how much for the paint job cost?
That would depend on the quality of paint you choose.
We carry two brands.
One cost 60 cents every square meter and the other 90 cents.
The second is guaranteed to look great for about 10 years, whereas the cheaper one will start to dull after around 6 or 7 years.
In that case, we would prefer the more expensive option.
Alright then, so including labor costs, taxes and everything, this job would come to $3,000.
Hmm, to be perfectly honest, that's more than I expected.
Please bear in mind that the price includes moving all the furniture and the whole task would take two days.
Really? Why?
Well, we can't paint the walls without clearing all the furniture first, so every time we paint a room,
We first have to move the furniture to another room.
So that takes more time.
Plus it requires two people, which works out more expensive.
I see.
But does that mean I could not live here in my own house during those two days?
That is correct.
Oh well.
That changes everything I'm afraid.
I would have to stay with a friend or check into a hotel.
I hadn't considered any of that.
I'm starting to realize that painting my house is far more troublesome than I had anticipated.
This is usually the case. Most of our clients go through the same realization.
I see.
You have my number. Please feel free to call me for any further questions.
Thank you.
Questions 12 to 15 are based on the conversation you have just heard.
Question 12, what is the woman planning to do?
Question 13. What is the woman's chief concern?
Question 14. What does the woman have to do while the paint job is being done?
Question 15. What has the woman come to realize at the end of the conversation?

听力篇章原文 / Passages（英文）

Section C, directions. In this section, you will hear three passages. At the end of each passage, you will hear three or four questions.
Both the passage and the questions will be spoken only once. After you hear a question, you must choose the best answer from the four choices, marked A, B, C and D.
Then mark the corresponding letter on answer sheet 1 with a single line through the center.
Passage 1.
Homework is an important part of schooling, but the purposes of giving children homework will change as they grow older.
At the primary level, the main aim is to cultivate good habits, like learning to plan, and exercising self-discipline.
During the secondary school years, extending what is learned at school is positively related to academic achievement, so the content of homework becomes more important.
So how can you help your child do their best?
Creating an ideal working environment will make it easier for them to get down to their assignments quickly.
Make sure it's free of distractions, and for primary school children at least, somewhere near you so you can answer questions and offer encouragement. You probably have to help young good children plan their session, but it's important that by the end of primary school it's second nature. Get them to tell you everything they have to do then encourage them to establish an order in which they do work. When they're several different assignments, make sure they begin with one they enjoy, so it seems easy to get started. It's best to take on the most difficult task second. Once they're settled, but before they get tired.
If older children have more than an hour of homework, encourage them to schedule a short break to stretch. If you encourage them to tell you what they've learned, they'll absorb the information more deeply and remember it more readily.
Question 17. What does the passage suggest parents do to help their children?
Question 18. What should children do to deal with multiple assignments?
Passage 2. Workers at Mexican oil company will receive a health incentive of almost $300 a year if they meet certain body weight standards. To qualify for the bonus, they must maintain and I healthy weight. For those who are overweight or obese, they can receive the bonus if they reduce their weight by 10% during the year. Some applaud the policy as fair, because it rewards both individuals who maintain a healthy weight and those who are working towards achieving it. But critics say the policy contradicts recommendations by many health experts.
Who warn that a person's weight is influenced by genetic and environmental factors.
That means weight can be hard for individuals to control, which makes the bonus unfair.
Some experts say the policy is inconsistent with the science of what we know about body weight regulation.
These experts argue that focusing on weight is the wrong approach.
A more productive method of encouraging health among employees is to promote healthy behaviors.
For example, companies can give workers gym memberships or encourage participation in lectures on healthy eating and living.
They can also reduce sweets and provide healthier stacks in the office and healthier meals at the company canteen.
Or they can give employees more time during their lunch break to exercise.
These are much better and much more productive ways for companies to move forward on the employees well-being.
Question 19-21 A based on the passage you have just heard.
Question 19 Who will qualify for the bonus in Mexican oil company?
Question 20. What do critics think of Mexican oil companies bonus policy?
Question 21. What do experts propose companies do about workers well being?
Passage 3.
Compatuous of war that the British government is not doing enough to prevent left-handed pupils from falling behind their peers.
They claim that thousands of children are still being penalized for being left-handed.
This is due to a lack of action from ministers who failed to take any meaningful action for years.
It is feared that a failure to address early year challenges such as poor handwriting needs to much more serious problems down the line with these pupils facing reduced career prospects.
Studies and recent years show that left had children on more likely to suffer with learning difficulties and their schools are lower on IQ tests.
Campaigners feel it's strange that children in British schools are penalised because they haven't been left handed. They don't understand why successive governments have failed to act on this. They want the Department of Education to record which children are left handed and what their educational attainments are. Since they make up some 10% of population. In early year education, left-handed children are struggling and making a mess of their handwriting. Educators don't know how to deal with this. In many cases, there's no active help and a lack of teacher training. Campaigners point out that a high percentage of the prison population is left-handed. They say that these prison numbers are unusually high and ask why it is the case.
Questions 22 to 25 are based on the passage you have just heard.
Question 22. Why are some people criticizing the British government?
Question 23. What do studies in recent years show about left-handed children?
Question 24. What do the campaigners demand? The Department of Education do.
Question 25. What do the campaigners want to know about left-handed prisoners?
That's the end of listening cobra henchium.
